

OMNIS MANAGED PORTFOLIO SERVICE

OMPS Managed Portfolio Service quarterly update for Balanced investors

Robert Jeffrey
Chief Investment Officer

Who is this investment for?

The Service is designed for a balanced investor, with:

- Knowledge about financial matters, and shows some interest in keeping up to date with them.
- Some experience of investment, including in funds containing assets such as shares and government bonds.
- An understanding in general terms that investment products should be held for a minimum period of five years.
- An understanding that the value of their investments could rise or fall.

The Service aims to improve total returns and actively manage short-term risks through increasing or decreasing holdings in asset classes and individual funds. These allocations are determined by the Openwork Wealth Services Limited investment team, which benefits from full transparency of the funds' underlying investments, and is controlled through a strict governance framework.

The quarter in review

- The Balanced portfolio offers investors access to the potentially superior returns provided by shares alongside the diversification offered by bonds when market conditions become difficult to navigate;
- The investment team did not trade in September, so the portfolio remains underweight shares and bonds and overweight alternative strategies and cash;
- We believe the outlook for shares is positive because the world's major central banks have indicated that they plan to keep interest rates at record lows for the foreseeable future and further government support to offset the economic impact of the pandemic should be forthcoming;
- However, for the time being we are underweight shares. After adding to our holdings following the market correction in March and April, we decided to take profits as the markets recovered over the summer;
- We are primarily underweight US shares because a relatively small group of technology firms, which we believe are overvalued, have driven returns. This positioning was justified to some extent by the sell-off in tech shares at the start of September;
- We are underweight government bonds because with interest rates at record lows, prices have been pushed up and the income they pay investors has fallen. We do not think they offer value other than as protection against market turbulence;
- We are overweight the Strategic, Short Dated and Absolute Return Bond Funds which have benefited from the Federal Reserve's (US central bank) decision to add corporate bonds to its bond-buying programme, known as quantitative easing;
- In keeping with our active approach to portfolio management, we monitor the issues influencing the markets, particularly the potential economic impact of further waves of coronavirus infections and efforts by the UK and EU to agree a free trade deal.
